

March 30, 2015

Beyond Borders Investment Strategies' Portfolio Manager to Speak on Energy Prices in Boston

BOSTON, MA – 03/30/15 - Beyond Borders Investment Strategies, LLC announced today that Vitaly Veksler, the firm's CEO and Portfolio Manager, is going to be on a panel titled, "Energy Prices and Their Impact on the Global Investment Landscape" on May 14th at the Boston Security Analysts Society (BSAS), the local chapter of the CFA Institute. The panel will explore the impact of the currently low energy prices and their outlook on various asset classes, countries and regions of the global economy. The panel will also feature investment experts from Barclays, Deutsche Asset and Wealth Management, Eaton Vance Management and Loomis, Sayles & Company. To read more about the panel on the BSAS' website, please click on the following link:

<http://www.bsas.org/store/events/registration.aspx?event=051415&expand=TRUE>

During the panel, Vitaly will discuss some of his views and ideas on the energy prices that he initially put forth in a report titled, "The Price of Oil is Likely to Rebound by the End of 2015", which he authored in January of this year. To read the report, please click on the following link: <http://www.bbistrategies.com/2/post/2015/01/the-price-of-oil-is-likely-to-rebound-by-the-end-of-2015.html>

Source: Beyond Borders Investment Strategies, LLC